

Students Failing Core Subjects

Students who fail core subjects at Alva Middle School or Alva High School will be required to take a summer school class in that subject matter, if it is offered. If the school is unable to offer summer school in the subject area failed by student the student will be required to remediate the subject the next year provided the district has the personnel and resources (or money) available. This class will count as an elective class and will not substitute for the core class.

The remedial class will be designed to re-teach important pass objectives that a student is lacking. Students will take this remedial class at the same time they take a required core subject, English, Math, Science, or Social Studies.
